

MSE 830 - Independent Research in Science Education - A topic relevant to the teaching of science in the classroom will be researched with the approval of the student's advisor. The topic of research should be well documented in professional journals and studies.

This is a three (3) credit course. Students have the option of registering for one (1), two (2), or three (3) credits during a given semester.